

WOULD HAVE 'OSTRIWHALES' TO KEEP WARSHIPS FAR FROM HAWAII

Battleships With Concave Sides and Mirrors Also Suggested as Means for Defense

Hawaii need no longer fear for her safety. On board the cruiser Maryland, probably due to the fact that two of her new ensigns come from the "Paradise of the Pacific," one of the brilliant machinists' mates on board, after digesting many of the adventures of Craig Kennedy and consuming countless Fatima cigarettes has evolved many plans for her defense. At first he was reluctant to part with his ideas, but promising him a year's subscription to whatever magazine contains the adventures of Craig Kennedy and a dozen boxes of Fatimas, he disclosed the following plans.

"My plans," he said, carefully thumbing the place in his book, where he was reading of Kennedy's latest exploit, that of saving the Maharajah of Swat from being poisoned by discovering that his tea came from Island of Bolongango, where his father's enemy dwelt, "my plans are the careful application of scientific principles and I cannot imagine why someone has not used them before, they are so simple. Briefly, they are as follows: "First, I would build all our battleships with concave sides, and instead of painting them the usual war color I would have their sides very highly polished, so that they would be perfect mirrors. The reason for this would soon be apparent. The concave mirrors, as the sides would be, would cast an image of the enemy's ships somewhere to the right and front of our ships, when we were at the proper angle. There would be the image of the enemy's own ships and they would imagine our ships were at the various focal points. Not only would they be wasting their ammunition, but just imagine the effect on a crack gun crew if they would seem to be hitting what appears to be a target and not doing any damage to it. They would become panic stricken and shoot all over the ocean.

"I would also carry this plan into effect at night by simply getting a sufficient quantity of phosphorus and placing it around all the various islands of the group, always keeping a sufficient supply at Pearl Harbor to allow this to be replenished at intervals. At night the waters so polluted with phosphorus would become highly phosphorescent and this phosphorescence would act the same as if the sun was shining.

"An additional plan I have to aid in this deception as to our actual position is this: I would hire Matthews, Coombs, Walsh and Wood and probably four or five others of the best baseball pitchers living. These men I would detail at the various training stations. You know, to pitch either an "out" or "in" curve it is necessary to impart a certain rotary motion to the ball. I should establish the rating of shellmen and powdermen and have these men trained by these crack pitchers to impart the necessary rotary motion to the shell and powder as it is loaded into our guns. These curves break sharply, and in the same manner, a shell fired with the necessary rotating impulse would go straight until it was about abreast of the enemy's ships and then "break" suddenly and come at them from the side. The enemy couldn't tell where the shots were coming from and that would soon mean complete demoralization.

Here Hank Kello paused long enough to light another Fatima, and after a few puffs, continued: "One of my other plans would go away with the necessity of planting mines all around the various harbors. Instead of mines I would plant gigantic exhaust blowers all around, placing them in large squares. Let us imagine for an instant that the enemy comes within the radius of one of these plants. At a given signal all the exhaust fans in the neighborhood are set off full blast. This naturally would make a large hole on the surface of the ocean. Not only that, but it would also create a vacuum. It is a well known physical fact that water will follow the point of least pressure, in other words, all the surrounding water would tend to fill in this hole in the water. The force behind it would be so great that it would be impossible for the enemy's ships to withdraw from the whirlpool and they would irresistibly be dragged into this hole.

"In view of the recent discussions about submarines, I have not neglected that important point in my plans. First, I would employ Dr. Hornaday, the curator of the New York Zoo, and together with Burbank, have him develop a hybrid whale, a combination of whale and ostrich, an 'ostriwhale' I would call it. I would only use the long neck of the ostrich and have the hybrid so bred that this neck would appear on the snout of the whole in the same manner as the horn on the unicorn. This naturally would assume the dark gray color of the whale, and every time a school of these whales came up to blow the enemy would imagine it was a fleet of submarines and flee with all possible haste from that vicinity. By breeding sufficient numbers of these ostriwhales I would have them all around the islands and insure our safety.

"Knowing the great tendency barnacles have for being attracted to the sides of ships, especially in tropical climates, I would lay in a large supply of barnacles indigenous to these waters. Then, in time of battle, I would simply coat the warhead of the torpedo with these. Exceedingly simple. The barnacles would be attracted to the sides of the enemy's ships and it would be impossible to miss."

Invitations for the Maryland ball to be held at the Young Hotel roof garden Wednesday have been issued and nearly every one has been distributed by this time. Invitations were sent to the queen, the governor, mayor and heads of military and naval departments in and around Honolulu, and it is believed that about 1500 people will attend the ball.

The decoration committee will start work on the roof garden Wednesday morning, and from that time until the grand march at 8:30, they will be busy transforming the halls and roof garden, so that they will be a mass of signal flags, together with the Maryland's colors—blue and gold.

Light Sidelights on Police Court Scenes

Too much swill made Ah Mun work later than 9 o'clock Saturday collecting it, and Officer Joe Perry arrested the Celestial.

Aka Kukui was taken to Queen's hospital Saturday, having been brought here on the Mauna Kea from Kohala, Hawaii. Dr. Bond had the man sent to the hospital for medical attention.

Helen Miguel's familiar face again illumined the dingy walls of police court Saturday. Police Judge Monarrat ordered that she be the guest of the city for the next 10 days. Asked which appearance this was, police officers said they thought it was Helen's hundred and first arrest for intoxication, but that they had lost count.

George E. Fields, a negro soldier in Company D, 25th Infantry, wanted to see how quick the fire engines could travel, so he turned in a false alarm at 10:50 o'clock Friday night from a box at King and Liliha streets. He found the fire department was right quick at responding, but that the police were quicker. George was turned over to the military authorities in police court Saturday.

Free room rent and board will be the portion of John Politz for another 30 days. Politz was released from jail only three days ago, after serving 90 days for drunkenness. He celebrated his freedom by collecting money enough to go on a tawdry spree and found himself in police court Saturday. His appearance will no doubt be greeted, to quote "Tad," by the familiar phrase, "Officer, he's in again."

WILL MAKE PLANS FOR DANCE IN SEPTEMBER

A rousing meeting of members of the Kamehameha Alumni Association will be held in the club house, 1337 Fort street, tonight, at which time definite plans will be made for the benefit concert and dance to be given in the Phoenix hall the evening of September 4. The proceeds of the dance will be used to start a building fund for the erection of a new dormitory to replace the one which now stands in the rear of the club house. The concert promises to be one of the best of its kind ever given in Honolulu. The Kamehameha Instrumental Club, lately formed under the direction of John Waiamanu, and the Hawaiian band, secured through the courtesy of Mayor Lane, will play. Tonight the members of the association will be divided into five teams to canvass the city with concert tickets. E. C. Webster, president of Kamehameha, and 1st Lieut. A. J. Booth, commandant, will speak.

LOOK FOR NEW RECORD TO WRITE FOR 'EXAMS'

Deputy City and County Clerk Henry Van Gleason said this morning that he expects a record number to file applications to take the civil service examination at McKinley High school on Thursday evening, August 26, for positions in the police and fire departments.

The time limit is not until Tuesday afternoon, August 24, at 4 o'clock for the filing of applications, but already 73 had taken out blanks at an early hour today. This number probably will be swelled close to the 100 mark before the county clerk's office closes this afternoon.

KNIGHTS CLEAR NEARLY $30 AT GOOD CONCERT

Nearly $30 was secured as a result of Saturday night's concert held by the organization in Cooke hall, the Knights of Kamehameha reported today. The program was exceptionally fine, all types of the distinctive and beautiful music of Hawaii being presented.

Among those taking part were the Knights Glee Club, K. or K. quartet, A. Smith, Miss Maehata Akaka, Robert Peck, Aloha quartet, Ben Hume, Miss C. Richardson, Arnold Richardson, William Kalam, and David Kalam. J. Brown, organist, was one of the organizers, with Robert Kalam, assistant organist, Ben Hume, vocal soloist, Arnold Richardson, secretary, and Louis Price, treasurer.

ARMY NOTES

Special Orders No. 175 and 176, received today at U. S. army headquarters, a number of officers now or formerly stationed in the Hawaiian Department, are mentioned, as follows: Capt. George D. Freeman of the Quartermaster Corps, on arrival at San Francisco about September 15 will proceed to Fort H. G. Wright, New York.

Capt. Charles T. Harris, Jr., of the Ordnance Department, who is now in the East, is given orders to proceed to Picatinny Arsenal, Dover, N. J., on official business, and to return to his proper station on the completion of his work there.

Capt. Ralph B. Lister of the Quartermaster Corps is relieved from duty in the Hawaiian Department, and will leave on the transport sailing from Honolulu October 5 or thereabouts, for San Francisco, reporting there for further orders.

Capt. Calvin D. Lant, Quartermaster Corps, Presidio of Monterey, will report to the commanding officer at Fort McDowell, Cal., who will send him to Honolulu on the first transport, to report for duty with Bakery Company No. 3.

Sgt. Frank G. J. Murray, Quartermaster Corps, Fort Ruger, Hawaii, will be sent on the September transport to Fort McDowell, Cal., to report to the commanding officer, who will send him to Fort D. A. Russell, Wyo., for duty as overseer.

Sgt. Timothy J. Cavanaugh, Quartermaster Corps, will be transferred to Fort Ruger to take Sgt. Murray's place as overseer.

FORT DE RUSSY NOTES

Fort De Russy was allotted 11 men from the Coast Artillery recruits who arrived last week on the Thomas. Six went to the 55th and five to the 10th Company.

Proof firing of the new 14-inch gun will probably take place in September. It will be held in the day time, and three shots will be fired. The gun could be used now in an emergency, though placed on the traditions only last Thursday. It is still to be painted.

Timbers from the big cradle in which the new 14-inch gun arrived, will be used for the construction of a new raft in the De Russy pool. It will be anchored 50 or 100 yards out from the new pier. A diving pier will also be constructed soon, with a maximum height of 20 feet.

A two weeks' trip to the island of Hawaii for the 10th Company of Fort De Russy is planned by Captain Norrington, for the first week in December. The plans of Captain Norrington are, a day and night in Hilo; several days at Kilauea, a day and night at Mauna Kea and a day and night at the Kona district. Then a permanent camp will be made, and the rest of the time will be spent in hiking from place to place, seeing all the beauties of Hawaii. The company will be accompanied by an army escort wagon, to carry food supplies and the boys' blanket rolls.

The men will be given the freedom of holidays; allowing them to leave camp and go where they please. Ammunition will be taken for those desiring to hunt. Everybody looks forward to the trip, and the men expect to enjoy themselves to the utmost.

PRESENT BOND HOLDERS TO GET FIRST CHANCE AT TELEPHONE ISSUE

Present owners of the $200,000 issue of 6% Mutual Telephone Company bonds, which issue is to be recalled October 1 of this year, will be given preference in the disposition of $200,000 worth of the newly authorized issue of 5% bonds. Applications for the new issue, which will sell at $101.50, will be received up to and including August 31, and holders of the old issue, if they so desire, may purchase an equal number of bonds of the new, after which appointment will be made among new subscribers.

RUSSIAN BOY ADMITS TAKING TWO PIGEONS

A Russian boy, about 12 years old, was before Circuit Judge Ashford in juvenile court Saturday. He was charged with larceny in that he stole two pigeons. The case was of unusual interest because of the fact that the youngster possessed a remarkable command of English, in spite of the fact that he has been in the islands only three years.

He said, "I stole two pigeons." He did not say "I hooked a couple of birds," as the usual Japanese or Chinese offender would answer.

Because of the fact that the youngster returned the birds to their owner the day after he took them, the court was inclined to be lenient and released the boy on probation.

GOLDEN WATTLE IS AUSTRALIA'S FLORAL EMBLEM

Australia, according to the Mid-Pacific Magazine for September, is setting an example worth following. The leading article in the magazine tells the story of the struggles of W. J. Sowden, for more than a decade to have Australia adopt the golden wattle as the national emblem of the island continent, and the 1st day of September as Wattle Day.

Now on September 1, every loyal son of Australia wears a spray of wattle in his button-hole. The yellow wattle forms the color-cover of the Mid-Pacific Magazine for September. Perhaps with this incentive, Hawaii may be induced to establish a local Hibiscus Day.

The September "Mid-Pacific" is also filled with Hawaiian articles; there is a story on Maui by Jack London, something about the coffee of Kona by Prince J. K. Kalaniano'ole; a very interesting and instructive article by E. A. Cooper on the size of Hawaii; a description of the ascent of Kaala by R. E. Lambert; an article on the Japanese in Hawaii by Sydney L. Guilek; the continuation of the "Log of the Shark," by Chamlian Kittredge London; descriptions of travel in Japan, Sumatra, Alaska, French China, Australia, South America, the South Sea Islands, and other parts of the Pacific, as well as an interesting article by Alexander Hume Ford on the Madeira of the Pacific, showing how Funchal, Madeira, has made the best of her advantages to attract the tourist.

HOPING TO TAKE FLAGS TO KAUALI

C. K. Al will deliver the address at the Pan-Pacific luncheon tomorrow at noon, as this will be Chinese Day. Mr. Al will tell what the Chinese have done for Hawaii and why Hawaii is better off because of the coming of the Chinese, and then some of the other five-minute speakers will tell what Hawaii has done for the Chinese and why they are better off because they have come to Hawaii.

At the meeting tomorrow plans will be discussed for representation at the Civic Convention on Kauai in September. A speaker will be selected from each of the Pacific nationalities to represent the Pan-Pacific movement, and the committees for making the flags representing each state and nation of the Pacific will be appointed and asked to accelerate their work, so that Flag Day may be celebrated before the Civic Convention on Kauai takes place and the flags taken to the convention. It is proposed to have a five by seven foot flag for each Pacific nationality and these will decorate the dining hall during the meetings.

The luncheon tomorrow will be held in the gymnasium of the Y. M. C. A., as Cooke hall has proved too small, and as the gymnasium is further from the noise of the street the speakers will find it much easier to speak.

POCKET PICKING NOW IS POPULAR PASTIME

Three cases of pocket picking have been reported to the police, all occurring yesterday.

While traveling from this city to Motuli on the Waialae line, Tanaka, a Japanese, had $74 taken from his pocket. He offered the police a reward of $25 if they would find the money.

During the incipient riot at Aala Park yesterday afternoon, a Chinese youth told the police some one tripped him for his wallet, containing a check and nearly $15 cash.

M. Kawamochi was hocked. When a Japanese named Hachio started picking his pocket in a crowd near the Japanese temple on Lele lane, the son of Nippon raised an uproar, with the result that Hachio was caught a second after he had thrown away his ill-gotten loot.

NINE-YEAR-OLD BOY SHOT

Richard Rice, the nine-year-old son of Sheriff Rice of Lihue, Kauai, was wounded in the shoulder last Thursday by a shot gun, accidentally discharged in the hands of Percy Lydgate, one of his playmates.

The load of shot did not spread, but entered the boy's back bulletwise, and made a glancing wound just under the skin. The lad was immediately taken to the hospital, and put under the care of Dr. Putman, who reported him out of danger on the following morning.

LOCAL AND GENERAL

Leahi Chapter No. 2, O. E. S., will hold a regular meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

So far this month 19 actions for divorce have been filed in the circuit court. This brings the total for the year to 239.

The report of Walter F. Coombs, temporary administrator of the estate of M. Blanche Coombs, was filed in circuit court today.

An order to show cause against the libelee in the case of Matilda Lucas against Albert Lucas, divorce, was dismissed by Circuit Judge Whitney today.

Yesterday was one of the hottest days of the summer, the thermometer registering 85 at its highest point. People thronged the beaches or went motoring to escape the heat.

L. Apana, the guardian of Loo Lay Lan, has filed the final accounts of the estate in the circuit court. The accounts show receipts of $10,200.08 and expenditures of $7820.75.

On the ground of non-support, Elizabeth Keola was granted a divorce from John Keola by Circuit Judge Whitney today. It was ordered that the libellant receive custody of the minor child and that Keola pay attorney's fees in the sum of $50.

Manuel C. Guindinho, figuring recently in the divorce case with Maria da Costa Guindinho, has been ordered to pay alimony of $5 a week to his wife, together with a temporary fee of $25 to the attorney, and the costs of the court.

A Japanese named Unda was seriously hurt Saturday afternoon at the Libby, McNeill & Libby cannery at Kailahi. While sweeping he slipped and fell, striking his head on the cement and fracturing his skull. He was removed to Queen's hospital.

Big crowds attended the annual feast of the Lady of the Mount in the upper Kailahi valley Saturday night. The feast was in full swing again Sunday afternoon, the sale of sweet bread and other edibles and of fancy work notions and curios constituting the major part of the celebration.

When James McQueen was divorced recently by Lillian McQueen he was ordered by the court to pay attorney's fees in the sum of $25. As he paid only $10 of the amount, an order to show cause hustled him into Judge Whitney's court Saturday, where he made good the $15. The order was dismissed.

Since the first of the month 75 accidents have occurred in Honolulu and vicinity, according to a report on file at the office of the accident board. Many of the accidents, however, were of a trivial nature, the persons injured recovering within a few days after the accident.

The case of the city and county of Honolulu against the Oahu Sugar Company, a bill for injunction, was dismissed in Circuit Judge Stuart's court today for want of prosecution. The city and county sought to enjoin the company from destroying and otherwise interfering with ornamental trees on the government road at Ewa.

An automobile, driven by J. H. Kawahau, backed off the Kinau wharf, Pier 12, yesterday, and dropped into 30 feet of water. Kawahau jumped and saved himself just as the car was leaving the pier. This is the same automobile that figured in the pile-up at Moanala last Sunday. It will be raised today.

E. A. Douthitt and D. William Douthitt of Honolulu have organized a theatrical company in New York city for the presentation in vaudeville of their play, "The Spirit of Hawaii." Rehearsals are being held in the Standard theater. The play was first presented to an audience in the Opera House of this city early this year. It received considerable local publicity at the time.
